

The Christmas Song
Words and Music
Copyright 2009

Rayme has been writing music since he was fourteen and playing it even longer. At 18 he was invited to sing at a local high school for a Christmas pageant and needed a song, he sat down and came up with "Christmas without you". That was 1986, years later Rayme had always wanted to record the song knowing it would be one of his best efforts. Flash forward to 2009, Rayme enters the studio with his long time friend Hal Eichstead. Together they came up with what you hear on the internet today. "Christmas without you" is a heartfelt ballad that will be sure to endure year after year.
